Example Breadth-First Search

Consider the following directed graph:

Perform a breadth-first search on the given graph, starting at node A. If in a step multiple nodes can be chosen, select the node that comes first in alphabetical order. Use the table below to show how the respective queue develops step by step.

						queue	node	prede-
step	state of the queue					operation	coloring	cesso
0
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9
10
11
12
13
14
15
16
17
18
19
20
21
22								